Toshiba Resubmits Documents on Internal Management System to Tokyo and Nagoya Stock Exchanges

TOKYO—Toshiba Corporation (TOKYO: 6502) today resubmitted the Written Confirmation of Internal Management System to the Tokyo Stock Exchange (“TSE”) and Nagoya Stock Exchange (“NSE”).

Designation of Toshiba’s stock as a Securities on Alert by TSE and NSE was extended on December 19, 2016, as detailed in “Notice on Continuation of Designation of Toshiba Stocks as “Securities on Alert” issued on that date. As Toshiba announced on March 14, in “Toshiba’s stock to be Designated as a “Securities Under Supervision (Examination),” with today’s submission Toshiba’s stock is now also designated as the Securities Under Supervision (Examination).

Today’s resubmission of the written confirmation of internal management system to TSE and NSE comes 18 months after the designation of Toshiba’s stock as a Securities on Alert as of September 15, 2015, as also detailed in the March 14 announcement.

TSE and NSE will review the resubmission and evaluate Toshiba’s current internal management system, and decide whether they cancel its stock’s designation as the Securities on Alert or not.

Toshiba will make timely announcements on the progress of the review.

Toshiba will continue steady implementation of measures to improve its internal management system, and requests your ongoing support.
